All renderings and drawings shown are the property of ASA Industries and must not be used except in connection with our work. Other than the sole purpose of communication between you (the Receiving Party) and our client (the end user), the Receiving Party shall carefully restrict access to these drawings and renderings. Reproduction or disclosure to other parties, contractors, or third parties in any form is not allowed without the written consent of ASA Industries. All rights of design or invention are reserved. These drawings are conceptual.

Overlays and product designs are based on standard building dimensions and do not account for field or access spaces, elevator accommodations, or stairwell accommodations. ASA Industries highly recommends you submit all building dimensions at the time of quotation to ensure fit product is being specified appropriately. Loading building factors that require changes to the design of the product may incur additional costs.
